

SHORT CV

[EN] Antero do Vale Fernandes, 60 years old, Medical Doctor, PhD in Medical Sciences, Invited Associate Professor at the University of Beira Interior, Specialist in Internal Medicine and Intensive Medicine and Emergency Medical Competency, Senior Graduate Hospital Assistant in Internal Medicine / Intensive Medicine. He is currently Director of the Intensive Care Service at Hospital Garcia de Orta. He performs hospital management functions as Adjunct Clinical Director for the area of urgency, emergency, and intensive care. He is a Professor of Intensive Medicine, Emergency Medicine and has a particular interest in research, in mechanical ventilation, sepsis and septic shock and perioperative medicine areas. He participated in several workshops, round tables, communications and clinical trials, being the author and co-author of more than one hundred and a half of scientific communications and posters. First author and co-author of about 50 published scientific articles in national and foreign journals and author of several book chapters. He was President of the Portuguese Society for Intensive Care. European Diploma in Intensive Care Medicine by the European Society of Intensive Care, member of several scientific societies, national, European and international. He is an instructor-director of several monothematic courses in the area of Urgency, Emergency and Intensive Care Medicine at the Portuguese and European Intensive Care Societies (SPCI, ESICM), Society Critical Care Medicine (SCCM) and Chinese University of Hong Kong (CUHK), namely Fundamental Critical Support (FCCS), Fundamental Disaster Management (FDM), Basic Assessment & Support in Intensive Care (BASIC) and Mechanical Ventilation - Beyond BASIC.

[PT] Antero do Vale Fernandes, 60 anos, Médico, Doutor em Ciências Médicas, Professor Associado Convidado da Universidade da Beira Interior, Especialista em Medicina Interna e Medicina Intensiva e Competência de Emergência Médica, Assistente Hospitalar Graduado Sénior em Medicina Interna / Medicina Intensiva. Atualmente é Diretor do Serviço de Medicina Intensiva do Hospital Garcia de Orta. Exerce funções de gestão hospitalar como Diretor Clínico Adjunto. É Professor de Medicina Intensiva, Medicina de Emergência e tem um interesse particular em investigação nas áreas de ventilação mecânica, sepsis e choque séptico e medicina perioperatória. Participou em diversos workshops, mesas redondas, comunicações e ensaios clínicos, sendo autor e co-autor de mais de cento e cinquenta comunicações científicas e posters. Primeiro autor e co-autor de cerca de 50 artigos científicos publicados em revistas nacionais e

estrangeiras e autor de vários capítulos de livros. Foi Presidente da Sociedade Portuguesa de Cuidados Intensivos. Diploma Europeu em Medicina Intensiva pela European Society of Intensive Care, membro de várias sociedades científicas, nacionais, europeias e internacionais. É instrutor-director de vários cursos monotemáticos na área da Urgência, Emergência e Medicina Intensiva das Sociedades Portuguesa e Europeia de Cuidados Intensivos (SPCI, ESICM), Society Critical Care Medicine (SCCM) e Chinese University of Hong Kong (CUHK), nomeadamente Fundamental Critical Support (FCCS), Fundamental Disaster Management (FDM), Basic Assessment & Support in Intensive Care (BASIC) and Mechanical Ventilation - Beyond BASIC.